The purpose of this research was what to describe how is the implementation of scanning strategy in reading comprehension and to describe what are the advantages and disadvantages of scanning strategy in reading comprehension. The researcher used descriptive qualitative method. The subject of this study was 28 students of tenth IPS 1 grade students of MA NU Nahdlatul Fata Petekeyan Jepara. The data in this research was collected through questionnaire, observation and interview. Researcher used questionnaire, classroom observation and the last was interview. The research findings showed that the implementation of scanning strategy in reading comprehension made students more active to reading comprehension and this strategy really recommended to use because this technique trained the students to catch specific information from the text. Understand the text easily. Get the meaning of each word in the text. Answer questions based on the text easier. They can be active reading in the class. They can more understand about the material.

Keywords: Student's problems, Scanning strategy, advantages and disadvantages.
