

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the research conducted at MTsN 1 Jepara in the academic year 2018/2019, the writer conclude that using Project-based learning method is effective to improve students writing ability in writing descriptive text. Using project-based learning method has a positive influence in teaching writing descriptive text. The students who were taught project-based learning method ha higher score than students who were taught without project-based learning method. Project-based learning method can improve students writing skills in MTsN 1 Jepara. Based on the research, it was known that there was significance between the score on experimental class that taught by using project-based learning method and controlled class that taught without project-based learning method. It was proved by the research findings. After analyze and get the result the writer can conclude that project-based learning is effective method to teach writing. It is proved by the significant difference between both of two groups. The post-test mean score of experimental group that taught by using project-based learning method is 90,64. It is higher than the result of post test mean score of control group that taught without project-based learning method which only get 53,64. It means that project-based learning method is effective to improve students writing skills.

5.2 Suggestion

In teaching learning process of English, it is suggested that English teachers should be more creative in finding new method, technique and media especially in teaching writing descriptive text. For example by using project based learning method, the students will be able to express their ideas be more easily. So the writer hopes that this finding can be used by the English teacher to teach writing descriptive text especially in eighth grade junior high school. The teacher can use project-based learning method as a effective method to teach writing descriptive text, because it can improving students writing skills and students will be more creative in making text. The writer also hopes that the teacher of MTsN 1 Jepara will be particularly and teacher in general should be more creative and have new innovation in teaching learning process, so that the students will be more active, pay attention and they also not bored in teaching learning process.

