

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this chapter explain about the conclusion and the suggestion for this research.

5.1 Conclusion

In this study, researchers examined the strategies used by English teachers in SMA Negeri 1 Kembang. At the school there are three English teachers who teach at each level. Based on the results of data analysis, the various strategies used by teachers who teach in tenth grade are skimming and scanning strategies because at this level, the teacher puts more emphasis on how to read fast. Whereas for teachers who teach in eleventh grade, the strategies that teachers often use are the Directed Reading Actively (DRA) strategy and Question Answer Relationship (QAR) because at this level, the teacher puts more emphasis on reading text comprehension and builds students' habits to read often. Then, for teachers who teach in twelfth grade, the strategies that teachers often use are surveys, questions, read, recite, and review (SQ3R) and question answer relationship (QAR) because the teacher emphasizes students to be more active in the classroom and understand the reading text as a whole.

Based on the results of the questionnaire data calculations obtained by researchers, it can be concluded that the teacher who teaches in the tenth grade, the strategies used by the teacher succeed. As for the teacher who teaches in the eleventh grade, the strategy used by the teacher was successful. Then, for the teacher who taught in the twelfth grade, the strategy used by the teacher was also successful. So, from the three English teachers who teach at SMA Negeri 1 Kembang it can be concluded that the three teachers were successful in improving students' ability to read.

5.2 Suggestion

From the results of the research, the researcher makes some suggestions as follow:

For the teacher, they have to learn more strategies and method in teaching learning process especially in teaching reading.

To students, students must learn more about reading and understand the meaning of reading texts.

For other researcher, in this reaserch is expected to be example and may help them in doing research, especially in teaching reading.
